

NBF Supporters Launch Research Careers for Early-Stage Investigators and Improve Patient Safety

AABB and the National Blood Foundation would like to recognize and give a heartfelt thanks to those who contributed to the NBF and its Research and Education Trust Fund in 2017. Donations from the following individual and institutional donors, in addition to those who provided funds anonymously, helped provide two deserving early-career investigators with a means to conduct studies that may lead them to a research career in transfusion medicine, cellular therapies or patient blood management. Many previous grant recipients not only succeeded in leveraging their funding into a successful career, but also evolved into industry leaders whose scientific contributions continue to advance the field. The generosity of these donors influences the careers of researchers and the lives of patients. Thank you for supporting the NBF's mission to fuel innovation in transfusion medicine and cellular therapies for benefit of patients and donors.

The NBF made it easier to make a donation and to tailor contributions to the program most valued by the donor. Supporters can donate to the NBF or directly to the NBF Research and Education Trust, Sally Frank Memorial Fund or the Tibor Greenwalt Memorial Fund. In addition, donors can now electronically dedicate a gift in someone's honor or memory and easily make recurring monthly donations to spread their generosity around an entire year. All donations are fully tax deductible. www.aabb.org/nbf
